The successful candidate a telegram. It was from Mr. Waterman, conceding defeat and extending congratulations as the finale of his venture from business life into politics.

Song Beas Slogan.
Mr. Waterman broke into politics with his agitation for subway construction under the slogan of "Say It with Shovels," but when it came down to voting, the New Yorkers gave their preference to the author of the popular song: "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May?" It was the playing of this music at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Walker in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church that shocked Mr. John Edwards, the pastor, and caused him mildly to censure the bride couple for introducing worldly chords into sacred precincts. Marking as it does the rise of Al Smith to complete domination of his party in the state and the leadership of the wet conservative faction of Democrats whose stronghold is the east, the majority election became a significant event in political history. It will long be remembered as the occasion of a spectacular triumph of the governor over his political enemies.

Makes Him Strong Contender.
As a result of this triumph and the position in which it places him politically, Gov. Smith is today the most prominent figure in his party. The shadow of his figure already falls athwart the national political scene. The governor must now be regarded as a formidable contender for the Democratic nomination for President in 1928.

He will have the eastern Democrats almost solidly behind him in the next national convention, and doubtless many western Democrats also, such as George Brennan's Illinois contingent. It begins to look as if it is going to be put squarely up to the party to decide more strongly than ever before to decide whether the Democratic party has the courage to nominate a Roman Catholic and a wet who is the party's most popular vote getter.

With the Democrats achieving unanimity in support of Walker, the hopes of the Republicans went glimmering. The Republicans had expected to profit from dissension in Democratic ranks. But when the third party failed to materialize and then Hyman got into the Walker bandwagon the Republican managers knew they might as well shut up shop in this city, which is normally Democratic by an overwhelming majority.

CAPITOL CROWD GETS DRUBBING IN COUNTY VOTE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—In a special judicial election in Sangamon county today the "state house crowd" received a severe drubbing. William H. Krum, the small candidate for the county judgeship vacancy caused by the death of Judge Eugene Bone, was defeated. For the first time in 59 years an independent was elected. The winning candidate is Oramel B. Irwin, lawyer. Leslie F. Ferrie, Democratic candidate, ran a poor third. The Irwin majority was about 150, according to the returns at midnight.

CONNIE BENNETT BECOMES BRIDE OF MILLIONAIRE

Was the Former Wife of Chester Moorhead.

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Connie C. Bennett, 23, an actress and daughter of Richard Bennett, the actor, plunged into matrimony for the second time today when she was married to Philip Plant, stepson of Col. and Mrs. William Hayward, and heir to many millions left by the late Morton F. Plant. Young Plant was the adopted son of the late millionaire, whose widow Mrs. Hayward was.

Married Chester Moorhead.
Miss Bennett's initial entry into married life was really only a gesture. In 1921, acting on a "date" she eloped with and married Chester Hirst Moorhead, son of a prominent Chicago surgeon. As both young people were under age the marriage finally was annulled in 1923.

Today's wedding ceremony was performed by Justice of Peace W. S. M. Plake, the same official who married the bride to the Chicago youth in Greenwich, Conn.
Richard Bennett, father of today's bride, has been kept busy denying reports that he was to wed this or that well known society or stage beauty since he was divorced some months ago. And only yesterday Barbara Bennett, sister of today's bride, called "silly" a report that she would soon emulate the example of Maurice's last partner, Leonora Hughes, who left him flat by marrying an Argentine millionaire.

Sued by Chorus Girl.
Young Plant was sued in May, 1924, for $500,000 damages, the plaintiff being Helene Jesmer, a former chorus girl, who had been badly injured and permanently disfigured in an automobile accident with him on Nov. 1, 1920.

In that suit Miss Jesmer charged that Plant, driving recklessly, struck a tree on the Pelham bay parkway. She produced many letters containing endearing terms which she said had been written to her by Plant.
After protracted hearings the Jesmer suit was settled out of court. The terms of the settlement were never made public, but it was reported that Plant paid her about $100,000.

Engagement Broken.
Mr. Plant was to have married Miss Judith Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter Smith of New York City, on June 5 last, but a month before that date he became ill and it was announced the wedding had been postponed indefinitely.
After obtaining the annulment of her first marriage Miss Bennett entered the movies.

The secret of Glove-Grip comfort is in the design of the instep.

Rare good looks—perfect fit

That describes these wonderful Arnold Glove-Grip Shoes. They fit snugly at every point without pinching or pushing the toes out of shape. It's a revelation in foot comfort. Lacing a Glove-Grip lifts up the arch instead of pressing it down.

GENNA LAWYER FAILS TO BARE POLICE GRAFT

Two Slayers Take the Witness Stand.

Chief Schoemaker and Lieut. Al Winge, Scallisi said, the former hitting him on the jaw that he was unable to eat for a month.

Car Full of Guns.
"Why did you have so many guns in the car?" Scallisi was asked.

"Mike Genna told me—" But the witness was interrupted by Prosecutor Crowe, upon his feet with an objection to the introduction of any statements supposed to have been made by the dead. Defense attorneys, however, declared after court adjourned that Genna, warned that the police were to raid his grog shop for guns, was taking them in the automobile to his brother's house.

Attorney Ahern fought vainly to convince Judge Brothers that the testimony should go in, but the judge, holding that any words could be put in the mouth of a dead man without a chance of refutation, denied the plea.

Deny Firing First.
The police fired first, two shots which whizzed close to where he sat, Scallisi said, contradicting the testimony of half a dozen state witnesses who swore the gangsters fired first, and declared Walsh and Olson fell dead before the police drew a gun.

Scallisi insisted that he had not fired at the two slain officers, but he did admit emptying the shotgun shoved into his hand by Genna. He aimed at Sgt. Michael Conway, who was wounded in the fight but recovered, Scallisi insisted.

Then Scallisi launched into a description of the wounds he received at the hands of the police. State's Attorney

Crowe jumped to his feet, protesting the testimony was immaterial. "This is a good story for a poor defense," he declared.

Admits Changing Story.
On cross-examination Mr. Crowe forced Scallisi to admit that he had told a much different story to himself and Chief of Police Collins.

"I suppose that story didn't suit your attorneys," Mr. Crowe said caustically, which raised more objections from the defense counsel, and a caution from the judge, who struck out the remark from the record.

"Why did you run away after the shooting?" Mr. Crowe asked.

"We were afraid they would kill us," was the reply.

Annelli then took the stand and was able to testify only briefly, telling of his business as a cheese merchant, and his movements since he was a youth—when court was adjourned. He will resume the stand this morning, and will be the last witness for the defense, Mr. Nash said.

AURORA CABARET SINGER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Fritzi Snow, youthful cabaret singer, who shot and killed her married escort, Dean Penneck, in the North Shore Inn, near Aurora, on Monday, was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder at the coroner's inquest yesterday. Although she admitted the killing, telling the police it was accidental, Miss Snow refused to take the stand.

Kitty Sauvage, another entertainer, testified that shortly before the shooting Fritzi asked Penneck if he still loved her. His reply, the witness said, was an emphatic negative. Then he added that he "never wanted to have anything to do with her again."

The inn in which the shooting occurred was padlocked during the afternoon by Deputy Marshal Hal Carr, after Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe had issued a permanent injunction.

"Why did you run away after the shooting?" Mr. Crowe asked.

"We were afraid they would kill us," was the reply.

Annelli then took the stand and was able to testify only briefly, telling of his business as a cheese merchant, and his movements since he was a youth—when court was adjourned. He will resume the stand this morning, and will be the last witness for the defense, Mr. Nash said.

RY-S SEEK TO FORM SENTIMENT FOR PROHIBITION

Anti-Saloon League in Session Tomorrow.

A tremendous effort to form public sentiment back of the national prohibition act will be made at the convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, which will open in the Chicago Temple tomorrow.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the league; Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the W. C. T. U., and Francis Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, will address the opening session.

The sessions Friday, Saturday and Sunday an imposing list of speakers has been provided, including the leading clerical, lay and political advocates of the Volstead law today.

Politicians to Speak.
The Friday noon fifty business men have been summoned to testify on the subject: "Prohibition, Before and After Taking." Congressman W. D. Phillips of Georgia, Congressman Richard W. Hays of Illinois, Senator Frank Willis of Ohio and Senator William McCarty of Illinois are among the politicians listed.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, arrived in Chicago yesterday. In an address at the Methodist Book Concern building he paid his respects to former Gov. Edward F. Dunne and the hard cider congressman, from Maryland.

Ex-Governor Dunne's remedy for liquor question is as wrong as his arguments," said Mr. Wheeler. "If wine and beer are made light enough to be nonintoxicating, the wets do not want them. If there is enough in the liquor to give it sufficient kick to satisfy the wets, it will violate the terms of the constitution without reference to the Volstead law."

Cites Bible Incident.
The ex-governor's anxiety about what would happen to Christ is palpable. Let him remember that what Christ made at Cana he made at water. Does Mr. Dunne think that if Christ were here now he would be a bootlegger? Christ always advised obedience to the laws of the land, as when he said, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

BETTY ANDREWS, DURKIN'S GIRL, FACES WARRANT

While the Chicago police were still investigating the unexplained flow of tips concerning the whereabouts of Martin Durkin yesterday, a complaint charging Betty Andrews, the skidish killer's sweetheart, with violating the Dyer act, was issued by United States Commissioner Turner in Los Angeles.

Federal agents who filed the complaint alleged that the law was violated by Durkin and Betty when they rode from Chicago to the California city in a stolen automobile in August. The woman is now in custody of the Stockyards police.

Sure He'll Be Slain.

Despite Durkin's unenviable ability to hide himself and to get out of traps, the police are confident he will be killed within a few days. Squads are still scouring the city and investigating every clue to his whereabouts. Steel shields, shotguns, and bombs to be used in overwhelming him when he is found are being held in readiness. The attitude in the police department is "he can't stay away forever."

The most promising tip in the six days since the fugitive shot and fatally wounded Sgt. Harry Gray came to light yesterday at dawn, when twenty-four detectives, advancing behind their shields to a farmhouse near Whiting, Ind., found that the supposed Durkin living there was a law-abiding citizen who resembled the killer.

No Chance for Slipup.

Lieut. John L. Sullivan was in charge of the advance and had laid his plans with such precision that there was no chance of Durkin's escape. He had been scouting as he did from Gray and his companions and from Federal Agent Edward C. Shanahan, whom he shot and killed on Oct. 11.

Information was received by both government and police bureaus that Durkin had been seen frequently of late in Whiting and Hammond, Ind. A responsible citizen, who said he worked with Durkin six years ago when the now notorious killer was noted only for his good looks, said he had seen Durkin—positively Durkin—on the streets of Whiting last Saturday.

This informant said he was positive Durkin was even then in a house at 1103 Schrage avenue. Two others had reported seeing Durkin. One said the fugitive held his hand over his face as he passed. The other said a handkerchief was used to veil the face of the hunted man. In addition, there were corroborative reports. Nine policemen had been watching the house at 1103 since early afternoon from hidden vantage points. The informant said with them.

"That's Durkin going in now," the informant said about 1 o'clock, as a man entered the house.

"Don't shoot unless he comes out and you are sure," Lieut. Sullivan warned. "We'll take him at day-break."

The vigil continued until daybreak approached. Lieut. Sullivan was studying the sky. The time was nearing.

"I'm going to the front door and knock," Lieut. Sullivan explained to his men. "Your signal will be when you hear me yell loudly 'We're police officers; open that door.' If any shots are fired through the door at me, don't any of you move except those who are with me. Shoot only if any one tries to come out a window or the back door. Shoot only directly toward the building or directly away from it. That will avoid a crossfire."

Phone Call Comes.

Then came a phone call telling of lights in the house. Each police automobile moved to a designated spot. Lieut. Sullivan had a steel shield which he carried in his left hand. It protected his whole body.

Sullivan pounded the door, and it opened slightly. Sullivan pushed inside. Mrs. George Brown was at the door. Her husband was the man mistaken for Durkin in the dark. The man seen by the three acquaintances of Durkin was a frequent visitor at the Brown home, but he was not Durkin. He is Herbert Mattingley, a driver for the Standard Oil company.

"That was real police work," Capt. Stege said later, "even if the identity of the suspect was a mistake."

Sulphur Heals Skin Eruptions
Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

COLLINS STARTS A FUND TO AID AUSTIN'S WIDOW

A relief fund for Mrs. Marion Austin, 39-year-old widow of Lloyd Austin, who came to his death in trying to help the police arrest Martin Durkin in the Austin flat a week ago, was started by Chief of Police Collins. Chief Collins started the fund with a subscription of $100.

Austin died a week ago from bullets from police guns when detectives attempted to shoot Durkin when he entered the Austin flat at 240 Englewood avenue. Austin had supplied the police with the tip that Durkin would probably visit his flat, and had the auto bandid that killed a federal operative been arrested Austin would have received $500 reward.

Today his widow is in destitute circumstances. With her eighteen-month-old baby, Marshall, and expecting to be a mother again in February, Mrs. Austin was left penniless and has been forced to abandon the home and seek help from her relatives.

TRAINMEN FAIL TO DECIDE ON WAGE DEMANDS

After an all day session behind closed doors, the Western General Chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen failed to reach a definite decision yesterday on the demands that will be made for an increase in wages and improved working conditions.

Officials of the trainmen are holding a joint session with the representatives of the Order of Railway Conductors on the wage and working conditions problem at the Morrison hotel. Following the afternoon session yesterday both groups selected an executive committee of five members from each big organization to formulate a set of demands to be presented at the joint meeting today.

William G. Lee, chief of the trainmen, refused to mention how great an increase in pay, if any, would be asked.

THINKS WIFE HAS WON A DIVORCE; DRINKS POISON

Unable to speak English and bewildered by the gestures of attorneys, Armando Lo Celso, 2385 Taylor street, thought he had lost yesterday in his fight before Superior Judge Harry A. Lewis to keep his wife and children. In reality the judge had sided with the husband and refused to grant Mrs. Marie Lo Celso a divorce.

But Lo Celso, despairing of ever seeing wife or children again, walked quietly out of the courtroom, clapped a small bottle containing chloroform to his mouth, and fell to the floor of a county building corridor.

Mrs. Lo Celso, who a few minutes before had testified concerning her husband's cruelty and pleaded with the judge to give her a divorce, heard Lo Celso's groans and rushed to his side. They are now reconciled.

JACK DURAN VETOES APPEAL LATEST RULING

(Picture on back page.) Jack Durand, whose vagabond life has been the subject of many newspaper reports, has it, when he starts for him Nov. 16, that he will take an appeal and thus put his mother's life in jeopardy. The story is this: Jack, recently sentenced to the State Prison for a term of years for a robbery, Sept. 1924, is now in the penitentiary.

JACK DURAND WETDOES APPEAL, LATEST RUMOR

Jack Durand, whose vagaries have already brought his foster-mother, Mrs. Durand, owner of Crab-Tree Farm, Lake Bluff, into many a difficulty, wiped the slate clean yesterday, when he insisted on serving the prison sentence which was for him Nov. 16, rather than take an appeal and thus put his foster-mother's life in jeopardy.

The story is this: Jack, recently sentenced by Judge Charles C. Edwards of Waukegan to the State Penitentiary Nov. 16 to serve an indeterminate sentence for twenty years, for his part in the robbery, Sept. 24, 1924, of the F. Edson White home in Lake Forest, had until the 16th to file an appeal.

Gets Threatening Letters?
There was every indication that Mrs. Durand, through Jack's lawyer, Attorney John Prystalski of Chicago, intended to take such action. But a few days ago, according to persistent rumor, Mrs. Durand began to receive threatening letters.

The letters warned her that if the Durand fortune was put at the disposal of an appeal taken, that the famous Crab-Tree farm would be blown up; the pedigree cattle would be poisoned; that even she would be killed.

Then it was, the report declares, that Jack, the restive young man of 22, who, as Wade Foster, 3 years old, orphaned, poor, obscure, had been taken up from southern Illinois and adopted by the Durands, came forth and had his say.

He refused to imperil the life of the woman who had seen him through so many scrapes. He refused to let her take a chance. And Jack, they say, vetoed any talk of taking an appeal, and insisted that he would serve his sentence, without any more ado.

Mrs. Durand, at her home last night, refused either to confirm or deny this report.

"My private life is my own," she explained, "and I do not care to discuss it. When Jack was on trial in Waukegan for the robbery, the matter was public. But this matter is entirely personal. It is of no public concern." If the threatening letters have been received, then certainly Mrs. Durand is not afraid of the threats. For there was no guard at the house and no evidences of any alarm.

Jack spent the day motoring to Joliet with two friends, to inspect the institution which is soon to be his home. Last week he went down to Pontiac reformatory, gave it the once over, voted it down, and importuned Judge Edwards to send him to the penitentiary.

Permission was granted.

Inspects Future Home.

Young Durand arrived at the penitentiary at 3 o'clock, just in time to sign his name in the visitors' register and fall in with thirty other entirely transient guests. As the procession veered any talk of taking an appeal, and insisted that he would serve his sentence, without any more ado.

He looked over the reformatory, and when the trip was over he confided to Glenn Whitman, son of Warden Whitman, that "Joliet beats Pontiac."

The warden, who would meet young Durand until the 16th, when told of the young man's praise, said that was very fine, but that Jack would receive the same treatment as that given any and every other prisoner.

SONS OF FORMER POLICEMAN HELD.

BONDS ARE $180,000.

George and Hugh Downs, sons of a former policeman, were held to the grand jury yesterday on fourteen charges of robbery. Judge Morgan of the South Chicago court fixed their bonds at $90,000 each.

The brothers, who live at 7300 Emerald avenue, are alleged to have robbed Mrs. Jessie Duncan, 6919 Crandon avenue, of jewels valued at $4,500 on Oct. 2. They gained entrance to her apartment by representing themselves as messengers for a florist.

Cecelia Durkin, a sister of the much sought Martin, was with George Downs in court.

JUDGE TO RULE IN WESTBROOK CASE ON NOV. 10

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday announced from the bench that he will pass on the legal status of Wesley H. Westbrook's "cement head" on Nov. 10. The announcement followed the filing of affidavits by the former jail warden in which he told of mental and physical illness which he thinks should cause the court to reconsider his decision sentencing Westbrook to the DeKalb county jail for his part in the Druggan-Lake scandal.

Westbrook went back to sickness in 1923 in making his claims that he was irrational when he made decisions favorable to the two beer barons. He also blamed alleged animosity of Morris Eller, sanitary district trustee, and Frank Morrison, politicians and partner of Druggan and Lake, for much of his trouble.

Judge Wilkerson said he also would consider Terry Druggan's petition to be released on bond on Nov. 10. On that day Druggan's maximum sentence of one year will have expired.

READS LARDNER JOKE; RECALLS AN UNPAID FINE

Claude Dyckman, inspector of records in the Municipal Court clerk's office, has a sense of humor, even toward humorists.

Dyckman read a recent magazine advertisement in which Ring W. Lardner, better known as Ring Lardner, wrote that whenever he came to Chicago he took a room in the Sherman hotel to look across the street at the county building. There he could see "how the other half lives without working." The county and city officials are under one roof.

Dyckman recalled Lardner never paid a fine of $50 assessed in 1919 for speeding.

Dyckman, partly perhaps to show that he was not one of the "other half" who don't work and partly to get money owed to the court, got a warrant for Lardner, who is not in Chicago at present. Lardner now lives at Great Neck, L. I.

AN AMAZING OFFER TO EVERY HOME-OWNER

Now! the comfort and saving of world's finest automatic oil-burner $19 down —and $19 a month!

Sizes for every home—large or small. Installation made immediately. Heat that ends dirt, work, bother—and is cheaper than hard-coal. First offer of kind ever made. Meets a great public demand for NOKOL'S proved reliability. Possible only through proved merit and the financial responsibility of NOKOL'S makers.

YOU are reading the first offer of this kind ever made. Judge if it is not also one of the greatest—in the new luxury and comfort, the actual money-savings it makes possible for every home.

For today $19 paid down will put into your home the finest oil-burning, automatic heat the world knows: NOKOL. A complete installation—everything needed.

You know what it has cost to heat your home with coal! In dollars and cents! In hours of drudgery—for yourself, or for womenfolk who are home all day! In sickness and doctors' bills resulting from air fouled with dust and smoke, and from rooms too hot for health one hour—too cold the next?

Now see how proper, automatic oil heat is better—on each point. And not only better—but cheaper.

Do not say: "It will cost too much to change" or "I am not sure oil-burning is reliable."

This offer removes all cost objections. And right here you find answers, with full proof, for every question or doubt you've ever had about oil burning.

How it's better

When you have an efficient oil burner—which burns the proper kind of oil in the correct way—you can have automatic heat.

This means that no member of your family need ever bother again with the heating of your home. No more fires will have to be built. No coal or ashes shoveled. No more dust, fumes, that result from coal-burning, in the air you breathe.

Your rooms will be automatically kept at the temperatures you want—all the time, despite sudden weather changes.

Proper oil, properly burned, happens to be the only way to get these great advantages. Coal can't provide them.

"All right so far," you say, "but has oil-burning been developed to give all this—reliability?"

This answers you

The offer made here—$19 down and $19 a month for a NOKOL installation—is in itself one full answer to your question. It is not a selling scheme, but a straight answer to demand that has grown nation-wide—for the heating-comfort and economy NOKOL gives, on terms that put it within reach of all.

The vast sums of money needed to finance such an offer to thousands of homes, could

Quick Outline of this amazing offer

- 1 You pay $19 down.
- 2 You pay the balance $19 a month.
- 3 Complete installation made at once—thermostat, tank, everything required—in your present furnace or boiler. Ready to heat your home.

This remarkable time-payment plan of NOKOL comes in response to a demand created by the actual experience of NOKOL users in more than 27,000 homes, over periods up to seven years. This experience, passed on to friends and neighbors, has brought a natural demand that NOKOL function as a highly useful public service institution, financed to make such terms that its product and service come within the reach of the entire public. It is in response to this demand, created by this economic necessity, that millions of dollars have been put back of NOKOL'S budget payment plan and NOKOL'S guaranty.

not be risked on an unproved, unreliable heating device. And there would be no demand for such an offer if NOKOL hadn't long ago proved its efficiency and reliability.

As a matter of fact only NOKOL manufacturers could make an offer like this. For only NOKOL has the necessary record of proved merit, proved reliability, in thousands and thousands of homes.

This is answer Number 1. Here is answer Number 2:

Today there are about 79,000 American homes heated by automatic oil-burners. Of these some 27,000—more than one-third—are NOKOL. The others are products of 346 different makers!

And here is answer Number 3. The oil-burning industry was founded by NOKOL makers. They discovered and perfect the principles by which oil-burning for the first time became a reliable and economical way to give automatic home-heat. Since then NOKOL has steadily led all others—in mechanical improvement and in sales. Today more NOKOLS are being installed every month than ever before.

Lower-cost heat

There isn't a flaw in NOKOL operation. Temperatures do not vary 2°—from autumn to spring—if you so desire.

Doctors say this one fact alone will eliminate most winter illness. Many NOKOL owners say that savings on doctors' bills have paid for NOKOL.

long to NOKOL exclusively) and mechanical perfection make this possible. Plus proper installation in your furnace or boiler—which NOKOL guarantees.

Cheaper, lower-grade fuel oil cannot give this efficient, satisfactory heat—in homes. It is fit only for large industrial plants. And it actually costs more, per season, than NOKOL fuel. Devices made to burn such oil cannot match NOKOL economy or comfort—and cannot burn NOKOL fuel except at prohibitive cost. For these reasons the established oil companies will not handle it—for home-heating!

Now—for $19

This remarkable offer comes only because of the great demand for Nokol in every class of homes. Families in moderate circumstances—families operating on budgets—people living in small homes; all have wanted Nokol on terms that would make its comfort and economy immediately possible. Here is the answer to that demand.

There are sizes—and prices—exactly suited to every size of home.

You pay $19 down. Pay the balance at $19 a month.

Immediate installation now made possible

No interruption in heating your home.

Your present method is used until NOKOL is ready. Then you switch in a few minutes—from the old way to this new and better heating service.

Installation is made as soon as you make your $19 "down-payment." Complete installation—everything needed. It is properly done, in your present furnace or boiler—and guaranteed.

Here's greater comfort, economy, and freedom from work—with the last obstacle removed. We're here to give you any further assistance in deciding. In fairness to yourself and your family, take the next step quickly.

Call personally—telephone—or mail coupon today!

The oil used—known as "distillate"—is cheap and everywhere plentiful. And always will be. All the large, established oil companies handle and recommend it.

It heats your home—any home—at lower cost than burning hard-coal. And at lower cost than any other oil-burning device burning any grade or kind of fuel oil, as far as we can find out. It is much cheaper than gas.

There's no dirt of any kind. No odors. And NOKOL is quiet. Guarantees matched by no other heating device protect you.

M'ANDREW LOSES ROUND IN FIGHT OVER EXAMINER

Supt. William McAndrew yesterday was defeated, as expected, in the first round of his fight for the reappointment of William H. Campbell to the board of examiners. By a vote of four to one, the school administration committee adopted a resolution rejecting the nomination of Mr. Campbell and directing the superintendent to submit the name of another candidate. If the board of education as a whole approves the committee's action, it will be the first official rebuff the superintendent has met since he took office. The issue comes before the board for a final decision next Wednesday.

Mr. McAndrew was not present at the meeting yesterday, but at a previous session he said he had assured Mr. Campbell that he would make no other nomination.

According to the superintendent, Mr. Campbell's age, 74, and the charges by board members that he is gruff and discourteous, are irrelevant. The real issue, he holds, is the examiner's refusal to yield to political influence in passing on examinations of prospective teachers. Under the state law, Mr. McAndrew said, the board cannot appoint an examiner without his nomination. Frank S. Rieffner, school attorney, holds, however, that with two-thirds majority this can be done.

Action on the name of Henry S. Crane, also recommended for another term on the examining board, was deferred by the committee.

Three of the fourteen teachers whose dismissal has been recommended on grounds of inefficiency, will be given trials on Dec. 15, the committee decided. They are Rose O. Starnes, Blanche Rowan and Emily Miller. Although charges preferred against seven of the group were referred back to the superintendent for correction, they probably will be tried on the same date. They are: Lucy G.

Ahern, Flora Schmohl, Arthur Fike, Luther Peck, Mary E. Geason, June D. Smith, and Crissie Clay. The charges were dismissed in the case of Clara Schreiber, granted sick leave, and Irene Carey, who has resigned.

Miss Margaret Haley, representing the Chicago Teachers' federation, appeared before the committee with a protest that under a new system of marking hundreds of teachers had been rated "unsatisfactory" who would otherwise have been rated "fair." The committee promised an investigation.

Miss Jane Addams and Judge Mary

Bartime urged employment of visiting teachers to assist in reducing juvenile delinquency among school children. A new elementary school at West Bryn Mawr and North Austin avenues was named after Rufus M. Hitch, former district superintendent.

WHEN IS FLORIDA LAND BOOM GOING TO REACH PEAK?

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Port Pierce, Fla., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—One wonders where all the money comes from and who is going to be left at home to do the work as the traveler parks his car beneath a coconut tree and watches them streaming along the highway in the greatest tourist migration in history. The question keeps ding-donging in the back of his head "where's the saturation point, and what's the limit of the land boom, for everything has a limit."

If all the developments of one sort and another could be added up they would show an amazing supply of building lots on the market. One estimate is that at least 1,000,000 building lots are in land syndicate holdings. It seems to be a most conservative guess; actual figures would probably be much higher.

In the seventy mile stretch between Miami and Palm Beach, it is estimated that perhaps half a million home sites are sold or for sale. They are of different prices, depending on location and how ritzy the development. They range from a few hundred dollars up into thousands, and in one of the ultra exclusive developments home sites without ocean or river frontage are being sold for $20,000 and $25,000—in other words, $100,000 an acre for land which a few years ago, before the big development started, might be bought for perhaps $25 an acre.

Some Wild Estimates.

Houses of Spanish architecture are going up every where from Miami to Fort Pierce, over 100 miles. The great subdivisions extend in an almost unbroken chain, and enthusiastic salesmen in their sales talk are saying that in five years there will be no ocean frontage along the east coast from Jacksonville to Miami for less than $1,000 a foot.

What's the limit of absorption? Down here there is a current saying that there are 15,000,000 people in the United States who can afford to spend a winter in Florida. Applesauce. It is apparently based on the number of automobile owners in the country—as if every tin canner on the road could afford winter sunshine.

The federal income tax reports indicate nothing like that. The Spanish villas are going up as fast as built. Prices for sites and homes are still increasing as development work is done. A friend buys a home in Miami for $20,000 and in two months later is offered $35,000. The air is filled with such stories.

Another man from Muncie, Ind., builds him a home near Miami for $9,000. To keep would-be buyers away he has to put up a sign, "Not for sale; don't bother me." A man drives up with a certified check for $18,500 and the Muncie man takes his profit.

As one drives through some of the great developments he is impressed with the number of homes now building to be sold at $25,000 to $50,000 or higher. They are still going as fast as erected, but it all leads back to the question of how many in America can afford it. The pressure of the migration explains some of it, but many of the tourists in Florida ought never to have come here. This is said by many tourists themselves, by many of the men most interested in Florida's development.

When Will the Peak Come?

A shoestring who leaves home with $100 in his pocket and ten gallons of gas in the filler, hoping to horn into a good job here and get rich quick has a fair chance. Thousands of them are hitting the hike for home. Ground prices in the east coast region are now at a level where it takes a little money to get in, and there are indications that levels in many places are away ahead, which always happens in a land swing of any proportions.

Right now, wherever one goes, one hears the question of when will the peak be reached? The great year is for a stabilization. Capital meantime continues to pour in. Some interests who are deploring the migration of dollars and people are themselves investors in Florida.

POWERS AGREE TO GIVE CHINA TARIFF FREEDOM

PEKING, Nov. 3.—(AP)—All the powers represented in the Chinese customs conference today accepted the principle of tariff autonomy for China, and the American delegation said before the conference's autonomy committee a detailed plan for putting this principle into effect not later than Jan. 1, 1929.

Spokesmen for Great Britain and Sweden, which hitherto had not definitely stated their acceptance of autonomy principle, announced their adherence to the idea.

China, through Dr. C. T. Wang, chairman of the autonomy committee, pledged the abolition of the likin, or tax on interprovincial commerce, before 1929.

Frame Interim Measures.

With the acceptance of the autonomy principle the chief labors of the conference are shifted to its second committee, charged with framing interim measures to be adopted before the new tariff regime becomes effective. This committee will meet Friday.

The American delegation, in presenting its plan, said it was prepared to authorize the immediate levying of a surtax of 2½ per cent in addition to the present general tariff of 5 per cent ad valorem, and as soon as the requisite schedules could be prepared, the levying of a 5 per cent surtax on luxuries.

The Americans then are prepared to proceed immediately to the negotiation of agreements necessary to put into effect other provisions of the Washington treaties regarding China.

Reaffirming its adherence to the autonomy principle, the American statement said the delegation was prepared to negotiate a treaty giving effect to that principle, making provision for the abolition of the likin, for the removal of all tariff restrictions and putting into effect a Chinese national tariff law.

U. S. Proposal's Terms.

Article 1 of the American proposal provides that the surtaxes mentioned in the statement shall become effective Feb. 1, 1929, for the 2½ per cent surtax, and July 1, 1929, for the luxury surtax, and that the increased revenues resulting from these levies are to be held by the customs administration subject to such disposal as may be agreed upon by this conference. Article 2 says that provision shall be made for levying the full amount of these surtaxes at all of China's land and sea frontiers.

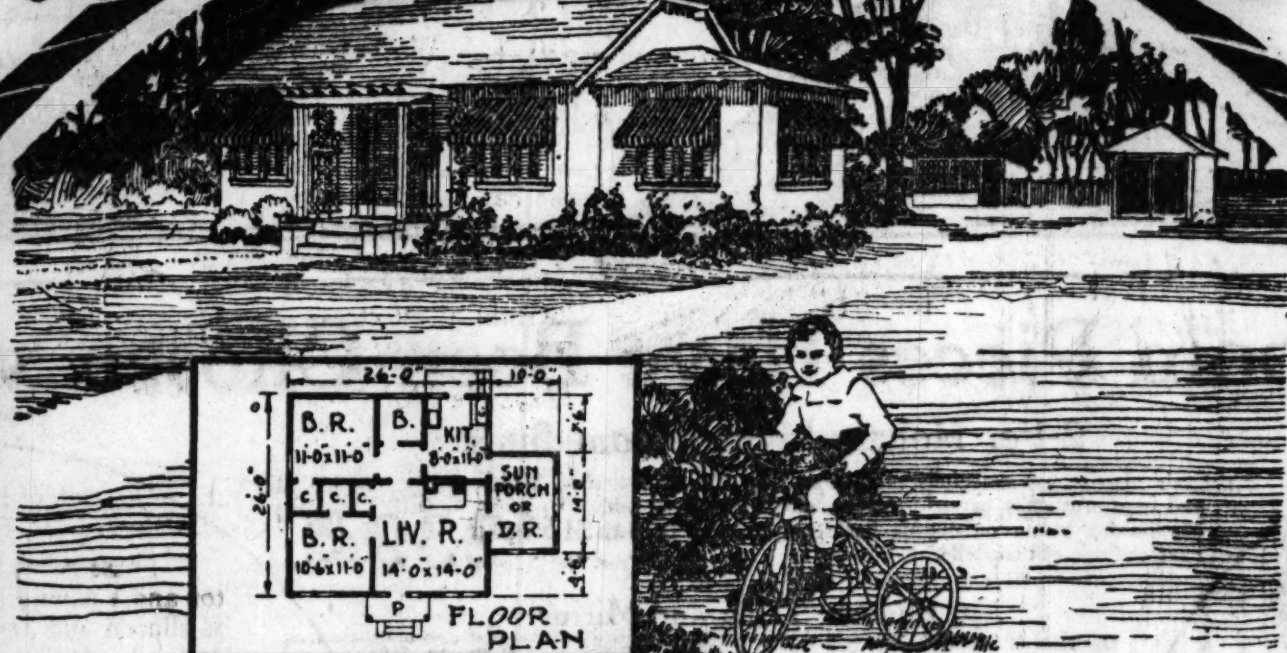

Report U. S. Friends Captives.

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Consul General Roger Culver at Hongkong informed the state department today that he was proceeding to St. John Island, south of Hongkong, to investigate reports that two American priests were being held by bandits there.

W. I. Twombly, Out of Jail, Pays $300 to Wife Who Sues

Twombly was arrested Saturday on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Ethel Long Twombly, who is suing for separate maintenance. He furnished $5,000 bonds before Judge Harry A. Lewis and paid his wife $300 for her support until the hearing, which will be in a few days.

BUTLER THROUGH IN PHILADELPHIA, FOR CHILDREN PRESIDENT SAYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Coolidge declined today to extend the leave of Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps to permit him to continue to serve after Dec. 31, as head of Philadelphia's police department.

GEN. SMEDLEY D. BUTLER.

The President turned down requests for an extension made by Mayor Kendrick, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, and others, who insisted the picturesque marine was needed to direct warfare against lawlessness in Philadelphia.

BLAMES PARENTS FOR CHILDREN KILLED BY AUTOS

Parents, "hopelessly, damnablely recalcitrant," were blamed last night for the loss of a big percentage of the children killed by automobiles.

Archbishop F. E. J. Lloyd, retired, also suggested measures for their punishment to workers in the citizens' child safety campaign last night.

"In this sordid, cheap, miserable state we are in the mothers and fathers will not stir themselves to save the little children," the retired Episcopal prelate said, "because they haven't the interest nor the spiritual incentive to save a life."

Safety Sunday will be set some time in January.

"The clergymen will be thankful for something worth while," the speaker said. "Let them preach child safety." Oliver G. Temme, chairman of the safety committee, said 500,000 to 600,000 of a safety pamphlet would be distributed.

DEVER TO REVISE TRACTION PLAN, SUBMIT IT AGAIN

Thinks It Will Win if It Is Explained to Voters.

In the absence of any plan from the traction officials that might solve Chicago's transit problem, Mayor Dever yesterday said he stood ready again to submit his ordinance to the voters with certain modifications.

He said the defeat of the measure at the polls last spring, the mayor still believed that his proposal is the real answer for the situation. He said yesterday he believed it would be approved if certain revisions were made. "There has been some talk of the traction officials from time to time, but nothing has ever reached me, and I am willing to submit the ordinance again if the traction officials will agree to certain modifications," he said.

Plans Education Campaign.
"We are not planning to offer the measure at this time, but unless some proposal is made that will enable the city and the lines to get together, then the public might be given another chance to consider last spring's plan."

The mayor declared he was satisfied that the public did not have a chance to study the project thoroughly, and consequently did not understand fully all its provisions. In the event of its re-submission an extensive educational campaign would be launched before putting it to a vote again, he said.

Will Aid Municipal League.

JOHN J. MITCHELL, 72, WORKS AND GREETED FRIENDS

John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Merchants' Trust company, celebrated his 72nd birthday yesterday by working. He had a birthday dinner at home. In addition to performing his routine duties Mr. Mitchell received more business callers than usual and also found time to receive friends. Many sent letters.

Among the visitors was Vice President Charles G. Dawes. After congratulations, they discussed the raising of hops, a hobby of Mr. Mitchell on his Cayton Court farm at Lake Geneva, Wis.

The Illinois Municipal League, which is preparing to take an active part in the termination of the legislation program, was announced yesterday following a conference between Mayor Dever, Mayor E. E. Crabtree of Jacksonville, Ill., president of the league, and Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch. The league is seeking funds to maintain a staff of experts to watch the controversy and furnish some 245 member municipalities with full information. Mr. Dever and Mr. Busch assured the Jacksonville executive that Chicago would contribute $2,000 to the fund.

The league's policy on public utilities is expected to be formulated at the annual convention in Decatur on Nov. 20.

Follow Woman Home, Rob Her of Cash and Rings
Mrs. Rose Abrams, 3539 Douglas boulevard, was followed into her home yesterday by two men who robbed her of $25 and rings valued at $200. Her daughter, Helen, 18, who was climbing the door steps, was knocked down as the robbers fled.

CIVIC GROUPS PROTEST STREET REPAIR SYSTEM

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The West Town Chamber of Commerce yesterday carried its fight for a more equitable distribution of the vehicle license fees—now totaling around $2,000,000 annually—to Mayor Dever and Commissioner of Public Works Sprague.

This organization, representing thirty-eight improvement clubs and civic associations, and the Chicago Motor Club, with a membership of approximately 45,000 auto owners, have a suit pending for an accounting of the vehicle license fees. The present ordinance provides that 85 per cent of the amount of fees collected shall be spent on the streets in the ward in which they are collected. An amendment to the code is pending in the city council, which, if adopted, will give the department of public works full discretion to spend the fee where it deems the need most urgent.

tested against the passage of that ordinance to Mayor Dever, who referred the objection to Commissioner Sprague. He promised to investigate the subject further.

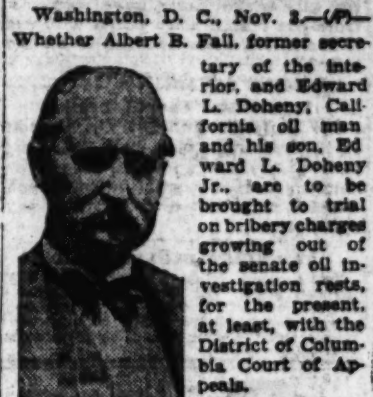

The delegation was composed of Mark Shanks, president of the chamber; H. H. Haylett, secretary; Thomas F. Little, a director; S. L. Golan, the organization's attorney, and J. M. Braun and J. E. Bulger, attorneys representing the Chicago Motor Club. "We want the vehicle license fees spent on the repair of pavements which property owners have previously paid for by special assessment," President Shanks said. "We see no reason why the present ordinance should not be given a fair trial. Commissioner Sprague gave us a very courteous hearing and we expect results from him."

Fear Abuses Later.

"We are opposed to a system which will permit favoritism in the spending of the money," explained Secretary Haylett. "While it may not happen under this administration, it may under a subsequent administration. There is no good reason for building new streets out of a fund created for the sole purpose of repairing streets already paved."

"In 1924 the records show that $240,815 out of the vehicle license fees was spent by the bureau of license and about $125,000 more by the department of gas and electricity," commented Attorney Golan. "Why not use a street repair fund to repair streets? Why use it for some other purpose?"

ARGUE APPEAL IN FALL CASE IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Whether Albert E. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doherty, California oil man and his son, Edward L. Doherty Jr., are to be brought to trial on bribery charges growing out of the Senate oil investigation rests, for the present, at least, with the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

Argument on the appeal of the government from the decision of Chief Justice McGray of the District Supreme court quashing the indictments was heard today by the higher court, which then took the matter under advisement. A decision is not to be expected before next month.

The indictments now at issue are those based upon the $100,000 transaction between the Dohertys and Fall as vividly described in the Senate Teapot Dome committee by the elder Doherty.

FOES SAVE NEW FRENCH CABINET FROM QUICK FALL

Moderates Aid Painleve to Stop Chaos.

BY DON SKENE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
[Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, Nov. 3.—The new Painleve government pulled through the first day of its existence by a narrow margin tonight when it won a vote of confidence at the opening session of the chamber of deputies by 221 votes against 183.

The Socialist party, numbering 103 votes, was avowedly hostile to the government because of the Moroccan and Syrian campaigns, and abstained entirely from voting. The government's hollow victory, which merely postpones the death blow until the Socialists are ready to strike on some definite question, was obtained through the votes of its political foes, the conservative parties, while openly opposed of the Painleve financial policies, they acted in the hope of stopping France's further plunge toward financial chaos.

Delays Vital Debates.

The formal vote of confidence was announced at 9:30 o'clock tonight after Premier Painleve had read his rather vague statement of government policy and after five opposition leaders had made lengthy speeches bitterly attacking the government's actions. Premier Painleve delayed the discussion of the burning issues of Syria and Morocco and finance by asking the chamber to confine its first interpellations to the wide field of general policies.

Premier Painleve's reading of the ministerial declaration was received with unusual calmness by all factions. The eagerly awaited financial program

BOMB M-O-R-S

TANGIER, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Three airplanes piloted by American aviators landed in the Tangier international zone today, after having dropped sixty bombs on Chechaouen, Spanish Morocco, which is in the hands of the rebel Moors. There is a strong feeling in Tangier that the aviators should leave the neutral international zone at the earliest opportunity in accordance with the Tangier convention of 1923.

Riff's Shell Tetuan.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Nov. 3.—(AP)—During the Riffian bombardments of Tetuan Friday a shell destroyed the Nasrallah mosque, killing an old woman and wounding several others. Considerable military activity is evident here, in contrast with the quiet of the last fortnight. A Riffi army of 10,000 men was surprised early Sunday morning and captured.

did not materialize, except in the broadest outlines. He admitted the gravity of the financial situation and called upon all citizens for sacrifices of money through a special tax on all wealth to meet the emergency, just as they sacrificed flesh and blood to defend their soil.

Premises to Settle with U. S.

He pointed out that final safety for the franc would not be accomplished until France reached an accord with the friendly powers on war debts. The premier promised resolutely to seek an equitable settlement through the negotiations begun in London and Washington.

Regarding the army, Premier Painleve promised an organization giving France the highest degree of power in case of aggression against it, but for times of peace he would reduce the terms of compulsory service to one year.

INFECTION KILLED GIRL, CLAIM IN EX-DRAGON TRIAL

Experts Testify in Indiana Case.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The attorneys for D. C. Stephenson, ex-gangster of the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, Karl Klinck and Earl Gentry, on trial for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer, are engaged tonight in preparing a motion to be presented to Judge Will M. Sparks asking that the case be withdrawn from the jury and the defendants discharged.

This motion is expected to be presented tomorrow or as soon as the state finishes its evidence and will be based on the grounds that the testimony has shown that Miss Oberholzer died of mercury poison self-administered and not from the effects of any injuries which may have been inflicted upon her by the defendants.

The motion will further attempt to show that no acts alleged to have been committed by the defendants, either directly or indirectly, were a contributing factor in her death.

Chemist Is Witness.

With the testimony of Dr. R. N. Harger, head of the chemical department of the Indiana university of Medicine, today, the state finished building up its case on medical evidence tending to show that Miss Oberholzer's death was the direct result of injuries she suffered from being attacked on a Pullman car on a trip from Indianapolis to Hammond, rather than from the effects of the bichloride of mercury tablets which she swallowed at Hammond.

Dr. J. A. McDonald of Indianapolis, who was called twice to see Miss Oberholzer, told the jury that he attributed the girl's death to mercurial poisoning with a superadded infection. "Is it true, doctor?" asked Charles E. Cox, former chief justice of the Supreme court of Indiana, who conducted the examination for the state, "that the girl would likely have recovered from the poison after living a month if there had been no injuries on her body?"

"I should say yes."

Lacerations Caused Death.
Dr. McDonald and Dr. Virgil Moon, of Indiana university, both said they believed the lacerations on Miss Oberholzer's body, becoming infected, contributed more to her death than anything else.

TWO WOMEN BURNED IN BED.

Mrs. Gertrude Buelow, 17 years old, 3733 Burdett street, and Mrs. Mildred Archele, 54 years old, were severely burned last night when a bed in Mrs. Archele's home at 1427 Roscoe street caught fire. Neighbors extinguished the flames.

PICK 4 JURORS IN TWO DAYS TO TRY FERNEKES

Difficulty in selecting jurors is being experienced in the courtroom of Judge William N. Gemmill in the Criminal court, where Assistant State's Attorney William McSwiggan is picking a jury to determine the fate of Henry Fernekes, John Flannery, and Daniel McGohegan. They are charged with the murder of Michael Swinokowski, treasurer of a building and loan association.

In two days only four jurors have been sworn. Yesterday afternoon thirty-five veniremen passed through the box and disqualified themselves by claiming opinions or aversion to inflicting capital punishment.

Few Realize How Florida Is Growing

The Great Cities built at Strategic Locations give unusual opportunities for Profit.

FEW realize how fast and great is the growth of Florida. Everyone knows of the great crowds of tourists who taxed the resources of the state not only all last winter but throughout the past summer.

Stories of fortunes made and of unheard of returns on minor investments have sifted through to become dinner table gossip. But the actual facts of the sales made by the really great city developments in Florida give some little idea of this, the largest of all land movements in the history of the nation.

Miami Shores, one of the outstanding Florida developments, received orders for $33,000,000 on September 3, the day they opened their Arch Creek section.

Davis Islands, a great project on the West Coast, had $16,000,000 of orders in one day.

Coral Gables, nationally known beauty spot, reported sales of more than $12,000,000 in September.

Daytona Shores, on the opening day, October 22, had larger sales than any other development in the Daytona region ever had in one month.

Florida has many developments, where land
suitably located has been cut into lots; streets, sidewalks and curbs built; electricity, water and sewers provided. In an amazingly short time homes, hotels, banks and business buildings spring up. Most of these developments are on a small scale, of course; the really great developments whose sales are given above can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The vast majority of these sales are made to people in Florida, on the ground, who know the facts and are able to judge values. Most of these original sales are made to investors, people who expect to hold what they bought at original prices for an increase, and then to sell at a profit.

While most of Florida sales are made in Florida, the money is coming from all sections of the country in a constantly growing flood.
Better knowledge of Florida and of Florida's distinctly new methods of operation bring more confidence. These great sales records are set only because of the known profits that have been made in the earlier offerings. Particularly, the profits have been greatest in the largest developments; and especially, the largest profits have been made in the first lots offered in a great city project.

Daytona Shores is the newest of all the great city developments in Florida. Its founders located it on the great twenty-three mile stretch of Daytona Beach, unsurpassed for its beauty anywhere in the world. Here swimming is delightful all the year round. Here you can drive your car on hard, smooth sand in moonlight or in sunlight and enjoy the ocean breezes. Here fifty cars can drive abreast on the beach at low tide. Here the fastest time on wheels in the world's history, 184.7 miles an hour, has been made in an automobile.

Daytona Shores extends for four miles along the Halifax River immediately adjoining Ormond and the Ormond Golf Course, both noted as "millionaires' playgrounds." The scenic Tomoka forms one boundary and the Florida East Coast Railway the west boundary. The Dixie Highway, main street of Florida from Jacksonville to Miami, runs three, and one-fourth miles through Daytona Shores.

Location of this kind is what brings increases in values to Florida properties.

The development program of Daytona Shores calls for the highest class of improvements on each lot in addition to an eighteen hole Golf Course, great hotels, clubs and an ocean playground.

Polks in Florida call the location of this new city "The most beautiful spot in Florida."

The developers plan to place in this setting a gem of construction.

The land and development program of Daytona Shores is a $75,000,000 project.

For the first time in the history of really great Florida developments the first offering of the property is being made by Daytona Shores in the North simultaneously with its offering in Florida. But, more than that, Daytona Shores has broken away from precedent and instead of offering the least desirable section of the property first, it has put into the First Unit opened the cream of all the property, lots fronting on the Dixie Highway which makes for great values, on the Halifax River where beautiful estates will be built, on the Peninsula that runs from the Halifax River to the ocean and at both heads of the Campway, which it is planned to build to connect the main land with the peninsula.

The location of lots in this particular first unit tends to give them the largest possibilities for profits to investors.

Daytona Shores offers an opportunity to Northern investors to buy in this choice first unit at original prices.

Every purchaser of one or more lots in Daytona Shores is urged to make an inspection within thirty days of the property he has bought. We gladly provide to those who make purchases here free transportation to Daytona and return. Naturally, if you are not entirely satisfied with your investment, your money will be refunded.

If you are interested in the methods by which profits are being made in Florida, or if you are merely curious to find out how this greatest land movement and the largest selling and building operation in the history of this country are being conducted, you are invited to write or to visit our branch office listed below.
Complete information will be given without obligation.

CITE PAST GAINS,
DEPICT CHICAGO
CITY OF FUTURE

Chicago as it looks today, after fifteen years of improvement planning, and a picture of what the future holds, are described in a booklet, "The Plan of Chicago in 1925," about to be published by the Chicago Plan commission.

The book, as the fifteenth annual report shows, that, with the completion of each project, Chicago becomes a better place in which to live. Not only that, the commission says, but it is hoped, to maintain its commercial standing among progressive cities of the world. The last fifteen years are cited as having advanced health, recreation, and commerce.

The projects that head the list of prospective achievements are the development of railway terminals, which entail straightening the Chicago river, thus opening up additional streets south of the loop, and the erection of a new postoffice on a site adjacent to the new Union station on North Canal street.

After citing progress of the $165,000,000 railway terminal development, which includes the new Union station, costing $75,000,000, and the $85,000,000 project of the Illinois Central, which thirteen other railroads have been asked to join, the report says:

"Whatever terminal development finally takes place, the best interests of Chicago, for which the commission has been fighting for two cardinal principles shall be taken into account."

"One is that the south branch of the river shall be straightened from Park to 14th street and the other that north and south and east and west streets, which for years have been closed by railroad occupancy, shall be opened for public use. These streets are Market, Franklin, Wells, La Salle, Dearborn, 14th and 16th."

The report terms the postal facility

as intolerable and asserts that Chicago and surrounding cities are being seriously hampered by the inadequate service at this pivotal point in the nation's mail service.

The commission recommends the site on Canal street from Adams to Madison street. This, the report states, would provide a main postoffice with 1,200,000 square feet and be located between two great railway terminals that handle 62 per cent of the mail in Chicago.

At present the postal department needs 775,000 square feet for its service. Of that amount only 318,719 are provided in the main postoffice at Adams and Clark streets.

Chair of Jewish Literature
Is Established at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Nathan Littauer professorship of Jewish literature and philosophy has been established at Harvard by Lucius N. Littauer of New York, Harvard '78, in memory of his father, who died in 1891. The gift will be completed in 1928 on the fifteenth anniversary of the donor's graduation.

CITES OBSTACLES
TO A TERMINAL
AT RANDOLPH ST.

Serious engineering obstacles all but preclude the possibilities of the construction of the Illinois Central's new terminal at Randolph street, according to Fred L. Thompson, vice president of the road, in charge of the electrification of suburban service between Chicago and Matteson.

"The Illinois Central does not believe that the erection of its consolidated terminal at the north end of Grant park would prove economically successful or an improvement to Chicago," he said. "The present terminal site at Roosevelt road is the ideal location, from our viewpoint."

Lack of space for trackage was the point most stressed by Mr. Thompson against a big terminal at Randolph street. The Illinois Central, he said, had to provide space not only for its own through trains but for those of several other roads, and ample room was the first requirement.

From the passenger standpoint, Mr. Thompson added, the site further north would not be so desirable. A terminal there would result in still more serious traffic congestion in Michigan avenue, he said, while at Roosevelt road the traveler gets away to a flying start on the boulevard.

"While we can handle suburban traffic very well at Randolph," he continued, "it would be a different story if we were to throw into that area a schedule of heavy trains."

Traffic engineers are studying now to find ways to lessen delay to suburban travelers, according to Mr. Thompson, especially to free them from traffic jams on the boulevards.

FOUND DEAD AT STILL.

RISE OF N. U. AS SCHOOL MATCHES CHICAGO GROWTH

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Looking backward into the Chicago of 1850, the Chicago Association of Commerce surveys find not only the first stirrings of a giant commercial city but the birth of a great educational purpose in the founding of Northwestern university.

Northwestern, which will celebrate its seventieth anniversary tomorrow night with a reception and exercises at the home of President Walter Dill Scott, gives a side of the picture which may be overlooked in the search for industrial causes and effects, but which may furnish a key to the greater door of opportunity, which the merchants are seeking.

The Chicago of 1850. What was the Chicago of 1850 that led nine men to gather in the office of Grant Goodrich, 109 Lake street, and declare that the time had come to start an institution of higher learning and that this little port at the foot of Lake Michigan was the place to build?

This was the northwest then, the pioneer land. The population of the city was 43,000. There was nothing on the gold coast and on the north shore but a few log cabins of hunters, a few farms, the Ridgeville road, swamps and oak forest, where the city's wood supply was cut.

The greatest artery of commerce was the "tadpole ditch," the Illinois and Michigan canal, 100 miles long, between Chicago and La Salle. The first railroad, the Galena and Chicago Union, had just been built.

The gold fever was at its height. One man, going to California "to pick up gold dust," sold 30 acres on the north shore for $4 an acre. Another sold a lot for $120 near the site of the present Chicago and Northwestern station.

The mayor's salary was $1,000. In all this territory there was no university. At the meeting in Mr. Goodrich's office, where it was decided to start a university under the patronage and government of the Methodist Episcopal church, there were present the Rev. Richard Haney, pastor of Clark Street church; the Rev. R. H. Blanchard, pastor of Canal Street church; the Rev. E. Hall, pastor of the Indiana Street chapel; Dr. John Evans, Orion Lunt, J. K. Bettsford, Henry W. Clark, Andrew J. Brown, and Mr. Goodrich.

Sold Scholarships for Funds. After incorporation the committee bought a lot on Washington street and one at La Salle and Jackson, now the site of the Illinois Merchants' Loan and Trust company. The price was $8,000. It was decided to raise $200,000 through the sale of scholarships.

Mr. Lunt went out to look at the north shore for a campus site. He drove to what is now Davis street and Chicago avenue and there had to get out and walk. He made his way through swamps toward the home of a farmer by the lake. Looking north, he noticed large oak trees and a sandy bluff. He made his way to the present campus and was so impressed by the beauty of the scene, "the gentle waving lake, its pebbly shore, the beautiful oak openings and bluffs beyond," that he dreamed of it that night and got the committee out and they bought it for $71 an acre.

The university opened on Nov. 5, 1855. Ten students came the first day. One was Horace Goodrich, now 82, who will be a guest at the celebration. There were three faculty members at first. Now the university has 10,600 students and 700 faculty members. The assets have increased from $8,000 to $25,000,000. The faith of the nine has been justified.

BRITISH SURGEON BLAMES BAD DIET FOR CANCER

Take a leaf from the Indian mother, the Jamaican primitive, the Sikh, Hindu military caste, training of children, and keep well. This is the advice of two eminent British surgeons, Sir William Arbuthnot Lane and Dr. Philip Franklin, who arrived in Chicago yesterday for a visit at the American College of Surgeons, 40 East Erie street. Prof. Vittorio Putti of Bologna, Italy, also arrived.

Says Women Have Failed. Cancer, for instance, is a disease of diet, according to Sir William, and he predicts that unless new measures are adopted that 5,000,000 in the British Isles will die of the disease. "The remedy is so diabolically simple," he said. "It is the fault of women in feeding their babies, in not teaching them the right habits. It is the women who have failed in this civilization."

Sir William, who lives in London, is one of the founders of the "New Health society" of England, which has aims similar to the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Tropical and Preventive Medicine in this country. The leaders of medicine have combined to prevent disease.

"Our hospitals are crowded with sufferers from tuberculosis, cancer, rheumatism, arthritis, and gastro-intestinal diseases, due to wrong feeding, impure food and air, and lack of hygienic knowledge," he said yesterday. "There is convincing evidence that if men will eat natural foods, adopt right habits, and take sufficient exercise, the diseases of civilization can be kept at bay."

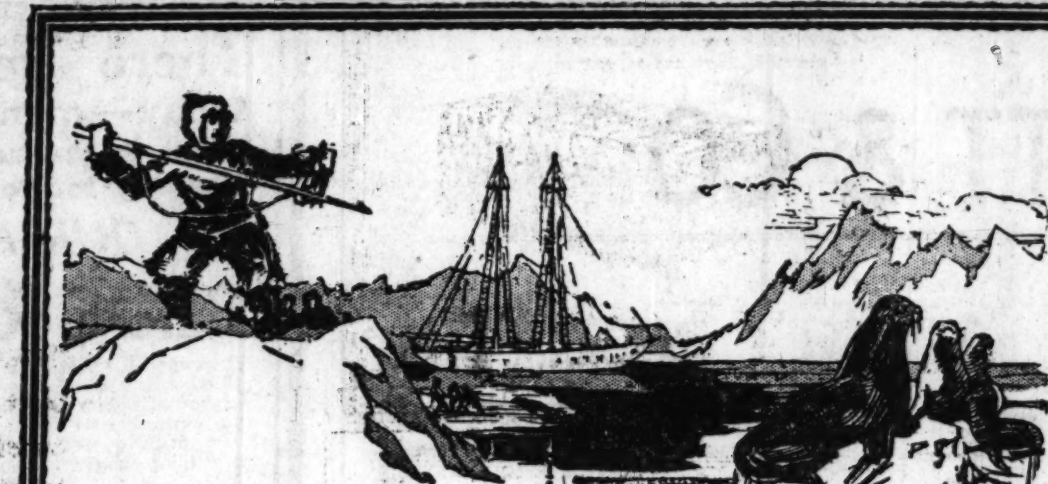

"Do not mince words. Tell them the truth, for it is vital," Sir William said. He was knighted after an operation on a member of the royal family and is surgeon to three London hospitals. "Constipation is the root of the trouble," Sir William said. "The primitive people never had these diseases from which we suffer because they lived a natural life."

Praises Indian Mothers. Dr. Franklin, a nose and throat specialist, an American by birth, but now the surgeon to half a dozen hospitals in London, goes back to the same primitive wisdom.

"The Indian mother," he said, "closed the mouth of her babe after feeding. That is why the Indians have such fine, straight features. We swaddle our babies and keep them in hot places looking up, with the result that they learn early to be mouth breathers. With the mouth breather the cavity back of the nose is filled with dirt and germs. I take my hospital babies and teach them to be nose breathers. This is the reason we have enlarged tonsils, adenoids, and develop other weaknesses. I believe that infant nasal hygiene is a thing that should be taught."

Both doctors spoke last night at a meeting of the Chicago Medical society.

"A Well-Balanced Diet Built Around Meats"

Nothing developed on the trip to cause me to revise my idea about foods; which is that a well-balanced diet built around meats yields the best health results.

On the way north we had fresh domestic meat from the supply taken aboard when we sailed. After we reached the North we relied upon the wild life of the region, using seal, walrus, caribou, muskox, Arctic hare, and many kinds of wild ducks.

Every day we had fresh meat with plenty of fat at least one meal and usually oftener when supplies were plentiful, and every one came through the four months in excellent condition; in fact, most of the members of the party gained weight.

While we often hear it claimed that eating too much meat is unfavorable to health, it is a fact that such ailments as gout, hardening of the arteries, and other disorders attributed to an excess of meat eating are quite unknown to the Eskimos who eat nothing but meat.

In my own experience I have never known anyone to attempt to live in the Arctic on a vegetarian diet. On the other hand, every Arctic explorer nowadays relies upon the native fresh meats as a sure preventive of scurvy, a much dreaded nutritional disorder which was prevalent in earlier Arctic experience times before we learned a lesson in diet from the Eskimo.

MRS. SAFAR ON TRIAL FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

If she hadn't opened her shabby pocketbook that February morning, grabbed out a revolver that clicked in the direction of her husband, Anna Safar, who fell down dead, Mrs. Anna Safar, likely as not, would have lived and died a good enough looking, none too interesting, and quite obscure Bohemian lady of Lyons, Ill.

But she did unclasp her purse. She did take the gun. And she did fire the shot.

Heard Jurors Questioned.

For an hour she heard Assistant State's Attorney John T. Dempsey (of whom, they call him Jack), in charge of the prosecution, ask any number of questions if they could without the sympathetic appeal of a woman ask them if they'd be inclined to give a lady murderer another chance. Many of these men spoke up and said:

"It wouldn't make any difference to me one way or the other."

During the session, too, she heard attorneys John Tyrrell and James Quinn, her counsel, outline to the men in the jury box the legal status of self-defense as a homicide defense. But through it all, she looked so placid that you wondered how she ever got around enough to murder Ignatz.

Born in Bohemia, but emigrating to Illinois some twenty-five years ago, Anna married Joseph Kira in 1914. In April of 1924 they were divorced and the following July she married Ignatz Safar, who had divorced his first wife.

Ignatz Peaved, Leaves Her.

Ignatz, so Anna told the police at Lawndale station the day she shot her husband, was none too free with his money. In November, 1924, she told the authorities, she spent $3 for a pair of pants for Ignatz, her son by her first husband. Ignatz didn't like this, so he left.

On the morning of Feb. 19, 1925, she told the coroner's jury, she had only a dime in her purse. She followed her husband into James Kolar's real estate office. She followed him out to his automobile and stayed with him even when he drove it up in front of the Lawndale police station.

"Ignatz reached for his hip pocket," Anna says.

When she opened her purse, she fired; he died.

And the jury in Judge Emanuel Elmer's court, four of whom were sworn in yesterday, will decide whether he did it in self-defense or not.

Yellow Cab

Reduces Accidents by System

Yellow Cab has reduced its own accidents 66 per cent in the past two years through its careful system of choosing drivers and teaching them that cab driving is a serious profession.

We have rejected those applicants whose only idea is to make a few dollars a day, and picked only those who can show a clean bill of health, a clean bill of morality and a distinct sense of obligation.

We are constantly teaching them in this big school of ours that "haste makes waste" in a transportation company, and that a mad scramble for place on the public highways is an invitation to disaster.

We are constantly teaching them that it is no light responsibility to have the lives of their patrons in their hands, and that they are just as much concerned in avoiding the reckless driving of others as they are in driving carefully themselves.

It takes time and money and effort to find and instruct men like this, but we have paid it, are willing to pay it because we are determined that so far as Yellow Cab is concerned, this cab business must take rank with all other important and ambitious pursuits.

Yellow Cab Company is the one local transportation we know of that has behind it the MORAL, ORGANIZED and FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY which you must be conscious of when you patronize a taxi-cab.

SYNOPSIS

A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive when she had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Mimi Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a nurse, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Dora. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the band can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Mimi has befriended. One of the crooks, Harry Bill Gibbons, asks Dora to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian becomes aware of Mimi's presence and announces he would like to marry Dora. Mimi tells him that his wife is alive, and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian agrees to give her the money.

INSTALLMENT IX SWINDLED!

On and on sped the high powered two seater. A long run they had ahead of them, but Bill was a brilliant driver and it was almost a record, a hundred and fifty miles to London without one single stop. About midnight they pulled up at the little house in Westminster where Charles was waiting for them with a tasty supper which he had prepared himself. Dora had gone to bed.

"And just as well," gasped Mimi. "O, I'm half dead, Charles, and starving. Bill, hollow eyed and covered with dust, asked her for the key of her bag. She tossed it to him, and reached for the glass of beer her admiring husband had poured for her. Charles, waiting upon her assiduously, was sharply interrupted by a snarl of rage from Beauty Bill.

"We've been swindled!" cried Bill. "Look here—it's nothing but paper—

—a piece of paper."

Mimi choked and set down her glass.

"What do you mean? That's not true. I'm not so green as to have—"

"Well, then, look!"

Bill held up the fat contents of the manilla holder to prove it is assertion.

"Done—swindled!" groaned Charles.

"Wait—here's a letter mixed in with it. O, that's done it—Mrs. Charles Hobson. Mimi, he knows who we are!" Hobson was the name under which Charles had been born and subsequently married.

"Give it to me," she cried, snatching the envelope.

She was red and furious, and her appetite for the good supper had entirely vanished.

"Our felt sorriest of all for Uncle Charles. He looked heartbroken utterly wretched.

"Well, why don't you open it?" demanded Bill.

Mimi tore at the envelope with her little pointed fingers which somehow suggested the talons of a bird of prey. The angry red deepened in her face as she glanced through the contents, her strong white teeth snapped, but she said nothing.

"Done—Swindled!" groaned Charles.

His expressive face of all was her heavy, labored breathing—she was not merely angry, she was desperately frightened as well. The tables had turned with the crooks. Sir Adrian Shale was not in her power; she was in his. O, the mean, scoundrel, lying wretch that he was! Could such dup'licity be imagined?

Crooked, that's what he was. How had a man like Shale managed to keep out of prison?

Poor Charles, huddled there in his shabby arm chair, reddened eyelids blinking, moistening his dry lips with the tip of a tongue that was not, itself, any too moist.

Mimi threw the letter at him, and burst out crying with her head on the table in perfect proximity to the sausage and potato salad.

"To think I should live to be so insulted!" she sobbed. "But I might have known—O, I might have known! All this week he's been working this up, and I went away so trustfully leaving him a free hand. Never, never again will I trust any man."

Charles and Bill bent over the evil thing together. Yet, it was a pretty strong dose for poor old Mimi. One could scarcely blame her for taking on any but somehow, somewhere, she must have blundered, and it was not like Mimi to blunder.

"Madam," began the letter, "here is a little dossier which may interest you."

Mimi Hobson, alias Mimi Le Vigne, alias Maud Montague, alias Clarice

Wentworth, alias Faith Matruver. Convicted at Bow street of shoplifting, Jan.

19, 1918, and sentenced to five weeks in the second division. Convicted at the Old Bailey, for attempted blackmail, Oct. 21, 1919, and sentenced to six months hard labor. Both sentences were carried out at Holloway prison. Tried together with husband, Charles Hobson, for complicity in Baron Hill real estate fraud, June 9, 1920, but acquitted. Husband found guilty and sentenced accordingly. Tried together with husband for complicity in the Marlowe turf fraud, April 23, 1921, but acquitted. Husband found guilty.

There is more of this, madam, the letter went on. "Considerably more, but doubtless you will agree that it is enough, and take warning by it.

"Vanity impelled me to see this thing through; that is, to see if I had any of your stupendous audacity; and it is vanity which also impels me to ask you how I did it. How, for instance, did the lift boy know when to knock at the door?"

"Well, he knew, because with the assistance of our good friends, Carroll and the hotel electrician, I rigged up a dictograph, the transmitter of which was in a bowl of flowers on the table across which you and I conducted our interesting conversation; the receiver being clamped to the head of my company in a room across the hall. If you would like a stenographic report of that conversation, I will be glad to furnish you with a copy.

"I offered to pay your hotel bill as some slight return for the month I enjoyed of your charming society, and that of your equally charming daughter.

I hope you found Grantwick hospitably inclined, and should you ever again think of settling here or of coming to pay us a visit, I shall be only too pleased to do what I can to make you happy.

My kindest regards to yourself, to Miss Dora, and to your 'sailor brother."

"Very truly yours
"ADRIAN SHALE."

"Doesn't send any regards to me," Bill muttered. "Well, we'll wait and see."

I got the bang of those windows catches all right. We'll wait and see."

Charles shook a doleful head. "I shouldn't. Not if I was you, Bill. He's mean hard and fast, if he wants to land on you. You keep away from Grantwick, and thank your lucky stars he let us off easy. That fellow Shale is a hard nut. He won't stand for any more nonsense from us, you may be sure."

"He's nothing but a low blackmailer," said Mimi, raising her weary head and disclosing a countenance sadly blotched with tears. "And I trusted him!"

"Women got no business to trust any man alive but their own husbands," Charles said, frowning her a bitterly suspicious glance. "I shouldn't wonder if you trusted him a little too far. Paying your hotel bill and all; letting you take the lift. I shouldn't wonder there was something behind it."

"Rats!" said Bill. "It was because of Dora, you jealous old donkey."

"The door opened."

"Because of me—what?"

And there was Dora, herself, slim and lovely and pale in a dressing gown, her hair in curlers, and she said, "I thought I heard somebody come in."

Bill jerked his head at Mimi. "Her—and she's got something to cry about. Shale caught her, done her in good and proper. Paved a real old confidence game on her—the sort of trick I wouldn't try on a ten year old rustic out of a feeble minded home. Brought it off in style, too. I wonder she's sore on herself."

"She trusted him," Uncle Charles murmured bitterly. "Said so, herself."

"Then, then Sir Adrian wouldn't allow himself to be—?" Dora's young face heaved spasmodically.

"No, he wouldn't," Bill spat out.

"I didn't think he would," said Dora.

"Did you tell Mimi so?" asked Uncle Charles.

"I begged her not to try. It seemed so mean, somehow, when he wasn't all he could be kind to us."

"She wished with deep resignation."

"Dora is beyond help," he groaned.

Good morning!

We're sure going to know all about the lumber business if they show many more pictures like "The Knockout."

"The Ancient Highway" and such!

Here, as in "The Knockout," we have a distraught lady whose logs are about to be jammed by a stern, hard, crooked man—who also has large lumber holdings—not his right, but by might—as you learn at the beginning of the film. He had stolen them from the hero's father while the hero

was at war.

This rough element is named Hurd

and is impersonated by Montagu Love, and what he has said, he has said. If the beautiful Miss St. Ives refuses to agree to marry him—can you log his log? If she agrees to be his wife, he can sell merrily down the river with no interference from him. You see.

He wouldn't do such—but he loves her so much.

But enter the hero, Mr. Brand, to join forces with the maiden. By the end of the picture what they and their help have done to Hurd is amazing, and he is left with a hanging dispatched to reconsidered in the hereafter.

The Ancient Highway is a timber

flanked road in Canada near Quebec, and all the scenes are laid in and around that vicinity. Beautiful, beautiful scenery!

The story holds the interest on the whole, though it is so much on the order of so many other stories. Miss

Dove and Mr. Hoot, in the romantic leads, make as delightful a pair of lovers as you could wish for and Mr.

Love is heap big villain. A rather attempt to inject screaming comedy

through the actions of a devoted St.

Ives retainer does not detract greatly from the picture as a whole. And, as a whole, it is a pleasing program offering.

Under the rouge of the characters shown here you find that the professional crooks are golden-hearted, high-minded folks with heaven as their goal

while, and that the upright entertain serpents in their bosoms. That is, some of the crooks are good and some of the upright are bad. There are others thrown in for contrast who live up faithfully to their rouse.

Mr. Moore is seen as an ex-service man with a medal for bravery who leaves the war, follows the path of least resistance and becomes a gentleman of leisure. He goes into the banking business—through windows.

Ellen Percy is a waitress of the underworld. Tom Galery is an upright bank clerk—who isn't. Mary Alden is a dear, motherly woman who lives in a small country town and whose influence reforms Tom and Ellen. The others,

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FOOTBALL TRAINING.
Football players are more on their honor now in respect to their personal conduct during the season than in the old days of the "training table," when the athletic department furnished and supervised the food. At that time, too, players usually housed together in some dormitory.

It was abolition of the training table with the early reform wave during the winter of 1905-'06 that led indirectly to Michigan's withdrawal from the conference. At Ann Arbor they maintained the table was necessary for the physical well-being of athletes. Objection to the training table was based on alleged abuses. Athletes were supposed to pay for their food the same amount they did at other places; also for their room at the training quarters. Thus if a boy lived at home there was an excuse to give him free board and lodging. Sometimes he got it when he didn't live at home.

PENN STATE.
State College, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—George Greene, a newcomer, was at half back for Penn State in practice today. The game was a hard-fought one, and the Penn State team was unable to gain much ground. The game was a close one, and the Penn State team's defense was particularly stout.

DARTMOUTH.
Hanover, N. H., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Workout today kept the Dartmouth team on the field until long after darkness had made necessary the use of the ghost ball. The regulars were given defensive scrimmage against the Cornell plays which were run off by a team made up of a third string line and the second string back field. Art Smith, regular right guard, who received a leg injury in the Brown game, was not in uniform. Rubin was in his place with the first team.

ARMY.
West Point, N. Y., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Time is a great healer, and some of the gloom incidental to the defeat of Yale having been dispelled during the few intervening days, the Army men got back to earnest work today. The three gridders were replete with footballs and players, the entire varsity squad being sent through a hard practice. Harbold, who was injured last Saturday, was missing. He is unlikely to play again before the Navy game, the end of this month. Columbia is to be met in New York ten days hence, and the Cadets are now pointing for that battle.

Reiselt Drabs Layton in Three Cushion Games
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Otto Reiselt made it four straight from John Layton of Milwaukee, winning both games today in the National Three Cushion league. The scores were 50 to 42 and 50 to 46.

FLORIDA RAINS BRING ATLANTIC TO FRONT DOOR

Showers Fall in Curtains,
Then Sun Shines.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

On board the Algemac of Palm Beach, off Jupiter, Fla., Nov. 2.—[Special.]—The old colored preacher of Jacksonville who remarked that "De Lawd has done out off de rain from Florida cause de wimmin has done cut off their hair and skirts," should have been at the southwest corner of the Indian and St. Lucie rivers and the Palm Beach canal a few minutes ago.

Making up for weeks of drought and a tardy rainy season, the sub-tropics turned on every faucet along the coast line in one grand water carnival that distributed in ten minutes' time sufficient rain to submerge at least 10,000 real estate lots in the ocean to bay frontage of Martin county. And all this following an intermittent down-pour that began early yesterday and has lasted through the night.

Rain Resembles Curtain.

Nesting down the channel after a forced tieup in the St. Lucie, the skipper had just pulled in a fighting mackerel from the troll line and was preparing for an orgy of blue fish battles when the rain struck. It came in a solid blanket, obscuring shore line and channel, and sweeping like a curtain between the ocean and the shore. Now the sun is on the job again in full front and only the unlucky automobile drivers who made the mistake of heading in on seemingly solid white sand at the side of the pavement remain as permanent parts of the landscape.

This enticing smooth white sand is one of the peninsula features to be studiously avoided by the visiting motorist in wet weather. It differs from the famous speedway surfaces of some of the ocean beaches in that it has been absolutely no bottom and has the faculty of bearing even a heavy car up until the car loses momentum and then lets it gently down to rest on running boards.

Derrick Last Resort.

Neither shoveling, filling in, nor any of the usual mud hole schemes of the gumbo country avails against white sand. The only successful rescue follows in the wake of a derrick. We know, because when we found last night that the yacht would be delayed in reaching its home berth we chartered a local car for the trip. It backed in close to the pier on white sand and is still resting there in the same white sand and an excavation about equal to the average sky scraper basement made by our futile attempts to dig it out.

Entomologists Stress Danger of Corn Borer

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

With the European corn borer expected to arrive in the Mississippi valley almost any time, corn belt farmers should become thoroughly familiar with the pest and its habits and cooperate with the state entomologists and eradication authorities. Reports coming from the recent international conference which was held at Windsor, Canada, say that the corn borer is the most dangerous pest that has ever entered the United States.

It was introduced into the States and Canada a few years ago with becomen ships from Hungary and Italy. The borer, a whitish or pinkish worm about an inch long, tunnels its way into the stalks and ears of corn and into flowers, vegetables, or weeds. Since it works inside the plant, no one has found a practical way of poisoning the pest.

In the spring it comes out as a moth and lays eggs that hatch into more borers. A female moth lays from 400 to 1,000 eggs. The borer lives over the winter in corn stalks and stems of plants. Farmers who find worms that resemble the European corn borer should send some of them to the state entomologist, W. J. Flint, Champaign, Ill., is entomologist in this state.

Cutting corn close to the ground and putting it into silos kills the borers and helps to keep them under control. Burning corn stalks, a practice generally condemned, may have to be resorted to if the borer gains a foothold in the corn belt. Tests have shown that late planted corn is not damaged by the borer as much as early planted corn.

The Ohio legislature has appropriated $100,000 for borer control.

MALLARDS CUT CAPERS ON ICE FOR SPORTSMEN

Flocks of 'Em Now on Illinois.

BY BOB BECKER.

Upper Illinois River, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The mallards are down. If you have any doubts regarding this fact, 15 minutes of observation down here would soon dispel them. Before leaving Chicago, Bill, our Illinois river guide, had advised us that countless thousands of greenheads were on dock and hunters were getting their limit of 15 birds almost too quickly. Judging by what we have seen today, Bill hasn't overdrawn the case.

Yes, sir, the mallard push has materialized, but that's only half the story. After testing some mean winter weather in the northland, where ice and snow have the top hand, these most greenheads have come down wearing ice skates, on which they have been cutting all kinds of funny figures.

For the last hour we have been sitting here in a blind at the edge of a frozen pond watching the flocks of birds circle above the skating rink until they are quite low in the air. The "blacks" get their wings in the skating rink, stick out their feet, and down they come upon the ice. Then the skating begins, and, take it from us, those corn fed boys know their stuff.

So far we haven't been able to tell whether they are wearing hockey or the old fashioned ducks know how to navigate on the ice. We have heard a couple of overly fat rascals when they tried gliding across the pond.

LIVERPOOL AND WINNIPEG HELP CHICAGO WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat values were on the upgrade with new December selling up 2c to a high of $1.55, the best figure on the present movement, and 7½¢ over the low on Saturday. Strength in Winnipeg, which was up 2½¢ for the day had considerable influence as did the gain of 10¢ in Liverpool. Closing trades were about the top with net gains of 1½¢ with new December 5c over May. Corn showed a little more activity and gained ¼¢ to 1½¢. Oats were ¾¢ and rye 1½¢ higher.

Greater part of the buying of wheat here was of a local character. There were numerous reactions due to profit taking, but each break brought in a good class of buying and offerings were light toward the last. Frost in southern Argentina caused more or less damage to around 2,000,000 acres but the trade here and abroad did not take it seriously as a rule. Buenos Aires was 2½¢ higher early. Private cables reported drought in Australia with an estimated exportable surplus of 50,000,000 bu or 70,000,000 bu less than last year. Strength in Liverpool was due in part to light offers of Manitoba.

England Buys Wheat.
England came in as a free buyer of Manitoba late Monday and early yesterday and was credited with having taken 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 bu, with some reports indicating larger sales. Unfavorable weather was forecast for the American and Canadian northwest and there is still a great deal of wheat yet to be threshed in the three provinces. Late messages reported heavy rains in the west.

Cash wheat basis here and in the south-west showed little change. No. 2 hard on track here sold at 8c over December with grain in store offered at 8c over. Premiums at Winnipeg were slightly firmer and there was no material pressure in that market.

Sentiment Changes in Corn.
Sentiment among several leading local professionals and commission houses regarding the trend of the corn market has changed to the bull side, and with wheat strong and a forecast for rain or snow over the belt the market averaged higher. Outside trade continues light and the market was easily influenced. Movement of new corn is gradually enlarging. Basis on old corn on spot was firmer with No. 2 yellow 90½¢ over December. Oats market remains in a rut and averaged in sympathy with corn.

No export demand was reported for rye, and while the average of prices was higher the northwest was a moderate seller on the advance.

Provisions were still but firmer with the action of the corn and cotton markets a factor. Commission houses were moderate buyers. Closing trades were lower on November and unchanged to ½¢ higher on the deferred deliveries. Ribs were 5c lower and bellies unchanged. Prices follow:

Avoiding Forced Sale of Estate Assets

Every week some estate is forced to dispose of assets at a forced sale to meet tax demands.

My plan provides cash funds for all such purposes. Estate assets may be carried until a favorable market presents itself, or held intact as long as desired.

Long experience in income and inheritance tax matters is at your service. I will actually make your estate go where you want it to, with information without obligation.

SURVEY REVEALS CHICAGO'S GREAT BANKING GROWTH

BY O. A. MATHER.

The remarkable growth of Chicago as a center of banking and finance in the last 25 years is set forth in a general survey of the city's industrial and commercial situation made by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The part of the survey dealing with finance was under the direction of Lucius Teter, president of the Chicago Trust company.

"Chicago is not placing its money in wild speculation," the report says. "Chicago buys bonds for permanent investment than any other city in the world. In 1900, the comparatively modest sum of $47,000,000 was owned by Chicago banks. In 1924, it would have taken $84,000,000 to make the purchase from ten banks alone and more than $400,000,000 to purchase the total amount of bonds and stocks held.

Amazing Growth of Banks.

"The banks themselves increased in number from 30 to 205. The combined resources of the banks amounted to $446,000,000, while in 1924 this figure had reached the amazing total of $2,931,000,000.

"Chicago's banking institutions increased 600 per cent in number and 700 per cent in resources, while the increase in the bond and stock investment was 1,000 per cent. The real estate bond has reached its highest point of development in Chicago.

In 1900, our bank resources were adequate for our business transactions, but in 1924 we had a surplus of 17 per cent of banking resources which could be diverted for the financing of projects in the Mississippi valley. There also have been great developments in time financing, although we still are using New York as a time financing center for the expansion and progress of our own resources."

Another Utility Merger.

Another big public utility merger was announced yesterday. The Northern States Power company has arranged to purchase the St. Paul Gas Light company, thus uniting the light and power services of St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Northern States Power company now supplies Minneapolis and about 600 other municipalities. It also furnishes about 30 per cent of St. Paul's electricity, while the balance is furnished by the St. Paul Gas Light company.

The financial arrangements for the consolidation were not announced, but public utility experts estimated the value of the St. Paul Gas Light company between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000. Approval of the merger will be sought from the Minnesota attorney general and the St. Paul city council. The Northern States Power company is under the management of H. M. Byllesby & Co. and the St. Paul Gas Light company is controlled by the American Light and Traction company.

Petroleum Output Drops.

Further decline in petroleum production occurred last week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average gross crude oil output totaled 2,043,850 barrels, a decline of 2,100 from the preceding week. Production east of the Rocky mountains declined 1,100 barrels despite an increase of 4,050 in the Smackover heavy oil field. California output fell off 1,000 barrels. The significant fact was that production of the lighter oils of high gasoline content declined 6,150 barrels a day.

Oil production during September totaled 21,641,000 barrels a day, an increase of 10,000 over August, according to the bureau of mines. September output of gasoline was 906,109,000 gallons and domestic consumption was 849,000,000 gallons. Stocks of gasoline on Sept. 30 were

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter prices here were 1/2c lower and eastern markets were easier. Offerings were rather liberal and demand only fair. Sales of 75 cars storage standards for December delivery were made here at 45 1/2c/50c. Cheese markets were dull but prices unchanged.

Fresh eggs sold fairly at unchanged prices. Receipts, 4,114 cases. Sales of 254 cars refrigerator standards for December delivery made at 34 1/2c/35c.

Demand for potatoes was less active and the market easier with sales of Wisconsin at $3.60/4.00 for white. Receipts, 160 cars with 440 cars on loan track.

Live poultry brought former prices. Receipts, 50 cars and 2,005 coops.

Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway.

D. I. F.—The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway is issuing $3,138,000 first consolidated 5 per cent bonds (due 1932) to retire at maturity $3,138,000 Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie and Atlantic railway first to due Jan. 1, 1926, on retirement of which the first consolidated mortgage bonds will be secured by a closed direct first mortgage lien on all the lines of railway of the issuing company, including 2,298 miles of road, together with terminals and appurtenant lands and buildings. Bonds under this mortgage will then be outstanding in the amount of $71,147,000, of which $56,865,400 are in and $14,281,600 (including this issue) will be in. The net income available for interest on the consolidated bonds in 1924 amounted to $5,707,119, or over 1.90 times the total interest charges on these bonds now outstanding, including the present issue. Net income available for interest on the funded debt for the first nine months of 1925 amounted to $4,182,311, compared with $2,144,718 for the first nine months of 1924. The company is controlled by the Canadian Pacific railway through ownership of a majority of the capital stock and gives that company its chief entrance into the United States. The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie in turn controls and operates the Wisconsin Central. The present issue of bonds is guaranteed as to interest by the Canadian Pacific railway. These bonds are a sound investment.

REAL ESTATE-SUBURBAN-NORTH Winnipeg.

AN ATTRACTIVE HOME.
A small home can be designed just as attractively as a large house. It depends upon the architect. This attractive bungalow has a lot of room for the money. It is a small home of 6 rooms, is the result of proper planning and good building. It is an excellent example of what can be done in the design of a small home.

For example—2 steps lead down from the front porch to the front door. The front door is tiled floor and dotted ceiling, gives the effect of continuous floor. Many home buyers. Although this house is not quite finished, an architect can finish it in a few days. It is one of the best small home buys on the North Shore.

The business center of Winnipeg and transportation facilities are within 10 blocks of the lot. The price is quite reasonable.
